'B' Card Holders To Apply by Mail

All holders of "B" gasoline ration cards who believe they are entitled to increased rationing should apply by mail to their local boards. Henry H. Perry, chairman of the Bryn Mawr War Price and Rationing Board, announced this week.

Under the new gasoline regulations, effective June 11, "B" card holders can prove need for extra gasoline may now be allowed up to 650 miles instead of the former maximum of 325.

The issuance of extra gasoline will be expedited and ration boards will apply by mail instead of in person, Perry said.

Perry also announced that applicants should fill out Form R-535, which was sent motorist with their last ration card, and mail it to their local boards along with their mileage record and a letter citing proof of the need for a ration increase.

Those motorists who do not have an R-535 form should apply by letter or post card to the ration board. This same form is to be used whether the motorist's ration is due for renewal or he needs the increased ration without waiting for the renewal time.

Perry explained that where the local board finds the applicant has made his need for an increased ration clear, the coupons will be mailed to him. Should there be a doubt as to the need for an increase, the board may call the motorist in for a hearing.

Ardmore Woman Heads Museum

Mrs. Marian Angell Godfrey of Ardmore, anthropologist and clubwoman, has been appointed acting director of the University of Pennsylvania Museum, the board of managers has announced.

Fuel Applications Processed Speedily

75 Per Cent of Fuel Oil Requests Have Now Been Processed

Representing 75 per cent of the eligible applicants for fuel oil rationing, all applications which have reached the Ardmore War Price and Rationing Board have now been processed. It was announced by the board this week.

It is expected that some of the rationing will not be mailed until sometime in July, as the coupons this year are being issued by the Insurance Center in Philadelphia rather than by the board as in previous years.

The board has received only about 15 per cent of the rationing sugar applications. Henry M. Harmon, chairman of the board, is urging those persons who are applying for rationing sugar to read over the application obtainable at the Board office very carefully before filling it out. All questions must be answered and this year's application is to be checked against last year's.

The board offices are open each week day from 9 A. M. until 3 P. M., on Saturday from 9 A. M. until noon and on Tuesday from 7 until 9 P. M. After sugar applications have been filled out they may be mailed in and a personal call is unnecessary.

The war is being fought and won in the research laboratory, the home, the factory, and on the farm as well as on the fields of battle all over the world.

Editor Our Town:

There's no intent to make this the beginning of a letter-writing contest, but our good friend Lou Young started this "thinking for oneself" idea and "taking known ones' position" notion, backed up with the ponderous idea that he's lived in our good Town twenty-two years. Well so what?

The writer has lived here 35 years, and, like Lou, has reached the ripe old age where he sometimes thinks, but I haven't reached the age where I conclude that the other fellow "doesn't think" just because he doesn't happen to agree with my conclusions. Nor have I ever shirked making my position known, as witness my name on the "Citizens Committee."

But while Mr. Young was thinking, I'm wondering why he didn't think:

(1) That Fred Walzer (a good scout and an old time friend) cast the Republican Party aside and became a naturalized New Dealer, and joined the staff of the worst administration (New Deal, too) that this Commonwealth ever had.

(2) That Mr. Walzer has a fine right to run in any general election, but that we're speaking now of a Primary and a candidate on a Republican Primary ballot ought to be a real Republican.

(3) That the Citizens Committee for Walzer could have been much more truthful had they named quite a few less years as Fred's tenure in office as a Justice of the Peace.

(4) That our good friend and Townsman who has been writing so fluently of this "Walzer Committee" has for a matter of a very few months only, been registered as a Republican.

(5) That sometimes some Republicans might "think" that Republicans are qualified to pick Republicans to fill office, without border-line advocacy of border-line candidates.

(6) That, contrary to our friend Lou's attitude, no one has ventured to say who constitutes the "Walzer Committee"—except that an "advertisement" (not published as an "advertisement") requested inquirers to call a number which is the candidate's own phone.

(7) That to show good faith, the Colletti Committee has listed many of its sponsors—and only the need for going to press with a letter-head prevented the inclusion of a great many more.

Yes, Lou, some of us do sometimes think, and some of us are heroic enough to let our name peek through.

HERE AND THERE

Dear Em: Somewhere this year March and June got their weather mixed up. The last week in March we were wearing Summer dresses and here it is the first week in June, and raining every day and plenty of folks are wearing sweaters and slacks. The tomato plants in the garden are turning yellow, and believe it or not, even the weeds haven't grown much in the past couple of weeks.

You know we have a Primary Election the June 19 and its kind of fun watching the candidates bowing and scraping, and smiling at all the passers-by here are plenty of arguments and discussions as to who is the best man for the job. But what I hate is all the mud throwing just before an election. Your politics, like your religion, is a private affair, and I for one like to feel I'll still be on speaking terms with everybody when election is over.

Remember I told you we had quite a turn out for the Memorial Day Parade. The children, as well as the grown ups were served refreshments at the Legion Rooms after the parade was over. What I didn't tell you was what a mention in the "Village" children on the parade. They rode in the streets, circle around cars, ride through stop signs and ride on the sidewalks. On Memorial Day they chose the semi-circle in front of the Library, and during the race, a little girl, Dorothy Biddle, Ferreira Awards for Physical Education, Jane Austin and Rhen Johnson; J. Gibson McIlvaine Prize in Woodworking; Harold Fischer; Laura B. Staley Award in vocal music; Mary Louise Kappas, Association of Philadelphia Award, Elfrieda Senn and Charley Yardley.

Dear Mr. Butler:

It is always a pleasure to hear from an old and loyal subscriber. Also, it is a pleasant place as requested. As your letter was addressed to me and intended as an open public letter, I imagine it will be all right to take the same liberty in reply.

Your chief complaint against Fred Walzer seems to be that at one time he changed his registration. Your candidate is running on the slogan "Always a Republican." As far as your complaint against ex-Marquisat Fred Walzer is concerned, there is no question. Fred for several years along with thousands and thousands of other Republicans, was registered as a Democrat.

Don't you think, Mr. Butler, that you are taking your Republicanism a little too seriously; too seriously for the good of the party and a lot more seriously than some of your outstanding Republican leaders have taken it in the past? At one time didn't this same Republican leadership have you voting for a Democrat for several years in order to defeat a Republican by the name of Pinchot? At another time in Montgomery County, didn't Republican leaders instruct you to vote for a man by the name of William Dannehower, who was running for Judge on the Democratic ticket, to defeat the Republican candidate, J. Ambler Williams? Perhaps you may be a better Republican than the leadership has been at times. I don't know.

We cannot agree with you that it is the most important thing in life to be "Always a Republican." Of course depending on one's occupation and the business set with which one travels, it at times may be very practical and profitable to be a shouting Republican. Especially if one's shouts penetrate into the inner office.

Could you tell us, Mr. Butler, how we can keep democracy intact and flourishing in America if everyone who is born either a Democrat or a Republican, insists on dying one no matter what happens to him or the party in the course of his life? It was only because there were courageous independent, clear-thinking Americans that the Republican Party came, first, into being and then into power. It is only because of their complacency that we may have caused the Republican Party to be nearly awakened from its complacency by those who had the courage to think for themselves and leave it that the Republican Party will rise again to power.

Of course, it is much easier and simpler to be "once a Republican, always a Republican." It

KNOW YOUR STATE

Pennsylvania's Printing and Publishing

The printing and publishing of newspapers and magazines is an industry and profession in which they Keystone State has always occupied a very high place.

During the many years when Philadelphia was the chief city and the literary capital of the Western world, the influence of its printers and publishers did much to shape the development of American literature.

The first American newspaper, the first American magazine, the first American book of letters, Charles Brockden Brown, were printed in Philadelphia before the close of the 18th Century.

Both Edgar Allan Poe and James Fenimore Cooper were editors of Philadelphia magazines, and it was a Philadelphia publisher who printed Walt Whitman's "Leaves of Grass," generally recognized as the most outstanding work ever produced by an American poet.

Pittsburgh was for many years the only publishing center West of the Alleghenies.

The growth of the publishing industry in the state has been continuous from the days of William Bradford. The remarkable series of religious books written and printed at the Ephrata Cloisters, before the middle of the 18th Century, are among the finest examples of the printer's art ever produced in the Western world.

Today, after more than 200 years, the publication of books and magazines in the Commonwealth is an industry showing a continuous growth in influence and importance. Every month nearly five million copies of four leading agricultural magazines are issued from the presses of the State.

More than twenty-two million copies of Pennsylvania's five most popular general magazines are printed every month, and the monthly total of all periodicals published in the Commonwealth is nearly thirty million which does not include many millions of periodicals printed here for publishers in other states.

The solid character of Pennsylvania's place in the publishing world is shown by the fact that most of its leading publishers also print their own books and magazines. The State stands first in books, and second in periodicals printed and published by the same companies.

Democracy and the Party Line

gets you a pat on the back from your committee on election day and you're known as "regular." But, who knows, there may be another veterans' bonus march on Washington and more apple selling at City Hall plaza, while you are throwing up your hands in puzzled dismay and all the time voting "regular."

The machinery of democracy is constructed in such a way that a man can change his registration as often as he feels one party has failed to serve the people or him in particular. It is this constant change and conversion to parties that is democracy at work.

Suppose your political philosophy were applied to everyone. Suppose those Republicans who voted for Roosevelt last Fall were eternally damned. Suppose they were never allowed to cross the line into the Republican Party again. What would happen? Well, one of the things would be that we wouldn't be able to scare up enough votes among our so-called "loyal" members ever to win another National election. Apparently you would grant those wayward Republicans, who voted for Roosevelt, permission only to vote for the next Republican candidate. You would punish them; penalize them for straying away. You wouldn't think of allowing them—like Walzer—to run for office.

We think your committee-for-Colelli made one of its most unfortunate moves when it based Mr. Colelli's campaign on the slogan "Always a Republican." There is nothing more threatening to either democracy or good government whether it is a plea to be "always a Republican" or "always a Democrat."

Cynwyd Major Is Safe In Europe

Major William L. Rittenhouse, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis L. Rittenhouse, of 511 E. Wynnewood Rd., Merion, previously reported a prisoner of Germany has written his parents a note, the former Gretchen Clay, of Bryn Mawr, that he is safe, well, and waiting to come home.

A graduate of Lower Merion High School and William and Mary College, Major Rittenhouse was listed in 1942 and received his wings at Blackland Flying School, Waco, Texas. Going overseas in July, 1943, he participated in the Sicilian and Italian invasions as a member of the 8th Air Force, and was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Air Medal with eight Oak Leaf Clusters, the Silver Star Medal and the Presidential Unit Citation. While in Italy, Major Rittenhouse had an audience with Pope Pius XII.

While bombing the Brenner Pass the plane Major Rittenhouse was in was hit by flak, and five members of the crew were killed. He and the bombardier brought the plane down in enemy territory and were taken prisoner on March 7, and held in Moosburg prison.

On May 23, after being liberated around April 29, his wife received a letter from him stating that he was alive, and had never been in better health. On the following day, May 24, his parents received a letter from him, saying that he was waiting to come home, and giving his home as a return address.

Previously word had been received from different members of the crew to the effect that he was believed safe.

Major Rittenhouse has two brothers also in the service. Richard, a radioman with the Coast Guard, and Robert, serving with the Marine Corps.

Can You Pay Off Your Mortgage at any time Without Penalty?

THAT IS SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT!
There may be many reasons why you would want to pay off your mortgage sooner than anticipated. So, why be tied to a long-term mortgage that can't be paid off before maturity? Why be tied to a mortgage on which you must pay a penalty of 2% to 5%, if you want to pay it off?

A Lower Merion Federal mortgage gives you the privilege to pay your loan in whole or in part at any time without penalty. That is the kind of mortgage loan you should have. Insist that your broker get it for you — or apply directly.
